Collection 685

Abstract

This collection contains the papers of Joseph Wallace, a Harrisburg merchant and lawyer of the mid-nineteenth century. Material in the collection relates primarily to his mercantile and legal practices. Wallace's business partnerships with Elder and Graydon are also represented in the collection. Mercantile material documents prices of items in the years following the War of 1812 into the 1850s.

Background note

Joseph Wallace, was a merchant, lawyer and deputy secretary/treasurer of Pennsylvania. Wallace worked in Harrisburg and his legal and mercantile careers reflect local issues of the mid-nineteenth century. Wallace also served as the treasurer of the Borough of Harrisburg, 1836-1839, and of other organizations including the Harrisburg Hope Fire Company and the Peters Mountain Turnpike Company.

Scope & content

These papers cover Joseph Wallace's partnership with Joshua Elder and give information on trade prices and commodities between Philadelphia and Harrisburg in the early nineteenth century. Legal clients of Joseph Wallace include his son-in-law Dr. William C. McPherson, James Emerson, several Elders, John Rhoads, James Wilson (an absconding debtor), Mary Kelso, and others. A small amount of Joseph Wallace's papers relate to his business as secretary/treasurer of Pennsylvania.

The collection is arranged in four series. The first contains the papers of Joseph Wallace and is subdivided by document type. Series two and three contain the papers of Wallace and his business partners. The second series, Wallace and Elder, contains the material of the two merchants and is also divided into sections according to type of material. The papers of Wallace and Graydon are the third series and contain various real estate documents. The final series contains miscellaneous items that do not relate to any of the previously mentioned series. These items are primarily miscellaneous bills and a small portion of the series relates to Wallace's ancestors.

Series description

Series 1: Joseph Wallace, 1812-1863 (Boxes 1-14)

Correspondence, the first section of this series, covers a period from 1826-1859. Most of the correspondences are incoming letters to Wallace regarding business. Among the topics of the letters are the prices of muskrat skins, sugar, coffee, pig iron and other items. Wallace's legal papers, the second section, are arranged alphabetically by client. The amount of material for each case varies, some contain notes and others correspondence between Wallace and his client. Materials relating to James Emerson, the Elders and McPherson are prominent in this section. The third section of the series contains correspondence and receipts from Wallace's various positions as treasurer. His bills and receipts comprise the fourth subseries of Wallace's papers. Assorted accounts, such as a memorandum of expenses, his account with Harrisburg Bank, and checks, make up the fourth section of this series. Real estate information, including a lease and a receipt book, wrap up this series.

Series 2: Wallace and Elder, 1811-1832 (Boxes 15-20)

Wallace and Elder were Harrisburg merchants. Correspondence in this series begins in 1814 and continues until 1825. Matters discussed include the rise of prices during the War of 1812 and later years. Receipts and bills illustrate the prices of items over the course of twenty years, beginning in 1811.

Series 3: Wallace and Graydon, 1827-1863 (Box 20)

This series contains a variety of real estate information for locations in Harrisburg for the years 1827 to 1862. Included are leases, articles of agreement, assessments, and building expenses.

Series 4: Miscellaneous, 1794-1863, n.d. (Box 21)

Items in this series include correspondence, bills, and receipts of miscellaneous third parties. Levi Hollingsworth and Son are well represented here by incoming correspondence. A small amount of material relates to Joseph Wallace's ancestors.

Processing note

This collection was revisited prior to December 2000, when it was revisited for the EAD finding aid project. Though the original processor established series, they were rearranged slightly to make coherent subseries. The previous subgroupings have been maintained, with the exception of Joseph Wallace's real estate papers, which were formerly part of the Wallace and Graydon series.
