REVISED 12/2010; web formatting updated 2/2013

Civil War collections at the Historical Society of Pennsylvania are excellent primary resources that offer eyewitness accounts and reveal the fears, prejudices, and heroism of the individual soldier, as well as the deprivation and destruction of civilian life, in America's most devastating conflict to date.

The following list is an in-house guide to the various Civil War-related manuscripts and newspapers available at HSP. This guide is not an every-name index, since the Simon Gratz and Ferdinand J. Dreer autograph collections alone contain letters from hundreds of individual Union and Confederate officers. Each of these soldiers is alphabetically listed within HSP's manuscript card catalog (PC-1)^[1]. However, those soldiers with a significant number of letters have been included within this guide.

The purpose of the Civil War Guide is to function as a research tool, for both scholar and laypeople alike, to all diaries and large letter collections. It is also intended to direct researchers to miscellaneous Civil War-related manuscripts, such as muster rolls, bounty papers, and organizations such as the Volunteer Refreshment Saloons, etc. Regrettably, this is not an annotated guide to the Civil War collections at HSP.

To facilitate research, this list includes the following data (where known): collection name, collection dates, collection numbers, and (when known) soldier's name, rank, company, regiment, and branch of service. The Civil War Guide is not exclusionary, restrictive, nor elitist in its approach to which individuals are contained within the list. All soldiers, regardless of rank, both Confederate and Union, are included. Samuel P. Bates's 10-volume History of the Pennsylvania Volunteers: 1861-65 (Wilmington, NC: Broadfoot Publishing Company, 1993) was utilized to verify each soldier's military record. In many cases, only by examining each individual collection could identification of soldier and his service be proven.

The Civil War Guide should be used in conjunction with HSP's online catalog [2], finding aids [3], and card catalog [1] entries. Various published works such as individual unit regimental histories and the multi-volume set known as the Official Records of the Union & Confederate Armies, should also be utilized.

For a fairly comprehensive listing of published Civil War resources available at HSP, consult our online Military Records [4] resource guide. Also, for a general introduction to Civil War research, see the hand-out, "Civil War History at The Historical Society of Pennsylvania" (available here [5]).

Editor's note: You can find more information about these and other items related to the Civil War in HSP's collection by visiting our online catalog at Discover.hsp.org [2]. To learn more about women during this era, visit HSP's "Guide to Women During the Civil War" [6]."
