

Sydney F. Cruice Dixon Appears on NBC10

As part of an NBC10 segment Who Are You? DNA at-Home Testing Gives a Look [1], Sydney F. Cruice Dixon stopped by HSP to explain why DNA tests are just the beginning of a family history journey. In a conversation with reporter Randy Gyllenhaal, Dixon recommends exploring historical records such as those at HSP to get a more complete and accurate picture of your family's past.

Sydney Cruice Dixon is a professional genealogist, researcher, coach, presenter, and avid genealogy teacher in the Philadelphia area. She has taught numerous classes at the Historical Society of Pennsylvania and surrounding suburbs and has been instrumental in developing the genealogical education programs of HSP. She is the President, Greater Philadelphia Area Chapter, Association of Professional Genealogists, and serves on the HSP Genealogical Advisory Committee.
