Abstract

The Scotch-Irish Foundation was founded in 1949 by the Scotch-Irish Society of the U.S.A.<sup>1</sup> “to collect and preserve for public, educational, and research use, books, documents, family histories, letters, journals, and historical material relating to the origin and history of the Scotch-Irish people in the United States, Northern Ireland, Ireland, Scotland, and elsewhere.” Its collection spans over a century, from 1896 to 2001. However, most of the material dates from the 1950s to the mid 1990s.

This collection contains, in addition to the records of the Foundation, those of the Scotch-Irish-Society of the U.S.A and its predecessor, the Pennsylvania Scotch-Irish Society. There are membership files, family registrations and genealogies, correspondence, financial material, administrative files (most of which pertain to their annual dinners), clippings, audio-visual items, and printed materials covering topics such as the early history of the Pennsylvania Scotch-Irish Society and the history of the Scotch-Irish in America.

Background note

Colonel A. K. McClure and Reverend John S. MacIntosh established the Pennsylvania Scotch-Irish Society in 1889. For over one hundred years, it has maintained its mission to preserve Scotch-Irish history, enliven its people, and promote fraternity and brotherhood among its members. Between 1961 and 1962, the society changed its title to its current form, the Scotch-Irish Society of the U.S.A. In 1949, the Scotch-Irish Foundation was founded by the Pennsylvania Scotch-Irish Society “to collect and preserve for public, educational, and research use, books, documents, family histories, letters, journals, and historical material relating to the origin and history of the Scotch-Irish people in the United States, Northern Ireland, Ireland, Scotland, and elsewhere.”<sup>2</sup>

Colonel A. K. McClure (b. 1828) was a noted Philadelphia lawyer, historian, and journalist, and his accomplishments were many. He helped establish the Republican Party in the 1850s and worked closely with Lincoln during his presidency. His efforts in journalism led to a job as editor of the Franklin Repository from 1850 to 1856 and 1860 to 1866. From 1856 to 1860, he served a term in the Pennsylvania legislature. In 1875, he launched the Philadelphia Times. Later in life, around the age of 76, he was appointed prothonotary of the Eastern District of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. McClure had a deep and abiding interest in history, and he often wrote and spoke on various topics such as the histories of political parties and his relationship with Abraham Lincoln.

Reverend John S. MacIntosh (1839-1906) was born in Philadelphia, but was taken to Ireland by his mother at an early age, where he eventually studied in Belfast and Edinburgh. For his theological studies, he traveled to Erlangen, Germany, but returned to Ireland and worked for various churches from about 1865 to 1880. In 1880, MacIntosh was called to America; first as a delegate to the Pan-Presbyterian Council in Boston, then as pastor to the Second Church of Philadelphia sometime around 1881. Over two decades, he established a good name for himself within Philadelphia's evangelical community. He left Philadelphia sometime around 1902, when he was elected professor of systematic theology in the San Francisco Theological Seminary.

Scope & content

The Scotch-Irish Foundation Library and Archives Collection is housed in thirty-seven boxes and spans from 1896 to 2001; however, most of the material dates from the 1940s to the mid 1990s. It contains not only the records of the foundation, but also those of the Scotch Irish-Society of the U.S.A and its predecessor, the Pennsylvania Scotch-Irish Society. There are membership files, family registrations and genealogies, correspondence, financial material, administrative files (most of which pertain to setting up their annual dinners), printed materials, clippings, and audio-visual items. While this collection offers a glimpse into the history of these organizations, it is perhaps most useful to genealogists and family researchers, since it contains a sizeable amount of family history material including the foundation's family registration files, family trees, genealogical compilations, and family magazines.

Every effort has been made to maintain the order of the material, including the order of the records groups listed in the original guide printed by the society. The original folder titles listed in the printed guide have also been maintained; however, the box and folder numbers have changed. Because there was an order to some but not all of the material, there is significant overlap of dates and type of materials within and between series. For example, there are membership records in Series 1 and 2. Correspondence resides mostly in Series 3; however, there are also correspondence files in Series 1 and 2. To assist researchers, such materials are cross-referenced in sections at the end of each series titled "related material in other series."

The first series (Family registrations and membership) contains member files, the foundation's family registration files, miscellaneous family histories, and correspondence with members. The bulk of the material dates from the 1970s to the mid 1980s, and there is a limited amount of material from the 1950s and 1960s. Here researchers will find a wealth of information on many Scotch-Irish genealogies. This material also sheds light on the foundation's relationship with its members and how they kept track of descendents of specific families.

The second series (Administration and events) is made up chiefly of materials pertaining to the society's annual dinners. Relative to this are correspondence files, member files, invitations, financial records, annual reports, and records of non-society events, such as the prime minister of Northern Ireland's 1967 visit to Philadelphia. This series also contains a disbound scrapbook, in which are reports, correspondence, clippings, photographs, and programs. There are also eleven volumes in this series that contain records of member dues, cash accounts, meeting minutes from 1904 to 1955, and miscellaneous correspondence.

The third series (Correspondence) consists solely of the foundation's and society's incoming and outgoing correspondence from the late 1940s to the 1990s. This correspondence, filed by year, is more general than correspondence found in the previous series and sheds light on each organization's daily operations. There are letters from attorneys, acknowledgments of monies received as donations for events, memos between board members, and research requests. In addition to the general files, there are also two separate files of correspondence from foundation and society members, former secretary John C. Tuten Jr. and former president, John W. McPherson.

The final series (Miscellaneous) contains printed material, audio-visual items, and miscellaneous memos, essays, photographs, and clippings. Of note are several folders of pamphlets and resources on Ulster, Scotch-Irish, and Irish people, history, and culture.

Series description

Series 1. Family registrations and membership, 1949-2000 (Boxes 1-13)

This series consists of ten boxes of family registrations, family histories, membership files, and correspondence with members. There is some overlap among the materials since multiple items from one member were often separated into different files.

The family registration files each contain a proprietary worksheet (bearing the name "Scotch-Irish Foundation") that each member filled out with specific information on their family's origin. Some of these folders also contain related genealogies and correspondence. The box and folder list, starting on page 9 of this finding aid, contains the list of registered families. It is important to note that, with a few exceptions, the names listed refer to each member's "first authentic Scotch-Irish ancestor.” For example, on his family registration form, society member William Alexander Whittaker named John Alexander (Box 1 Folder 3) as his first authentic Scotch-Irish ancestor.

There are over four hundred files for individuals who became members of the Scotch-Irish Society of the U.S.A. Each folder is labeled with the member’s name and address. While a small portion of the folders are empty, most of them contain membership applications and acknowledgement letters. A few folders also contain members’ letters and supporting genealogical material. Other materials in this series include a box of family histories and genealogies that do not correlate to the family registrations list. There are also several folders of correspondence with members from the 1940s to the 1970s, much of which concerns their membership status, i.e., new, prospective, resigned, or deceased. Among this material are also miscellaneous applications, dues notices, and member newsletters, all from the 1970s.

Related material in other series:

- Membership applications and correspondence: Series 2, Box 15.

Series 2. Administration and events, 1889-1995 (Boxes 13-24, Vols. 1-11)

Housed in twelve boxes are the administrative and financial files of the foundation and society. Since events, such as their annual dinners, were closely linked in content to their administrative papers, these materials have also been combined into this series. As an example of how the materials overlap throughout the collection, the society’s original record group of administrative papers, which has been maintained in original order, contains several folders of membership applications. There are also programs, invitations, dinner guest cards, letters, annual reports, and financial papers. Additionally, there are two volumes of minutes from meetings of the Pennsylvania Scotch-Irish Society’s Council from 1904 to 1955, and one volume of miscellaneous administrative correspondence from the early twentieth century.

The vast majority of the material in this series, which spans from the late 1880s to the late 1970s, pertains to the society’s annual dinners. Papers documenting these events include correspondence, annual reports, and invitations. Boxes 20 and 21 contain a disbound scrapbook which is made up of copies of annual reports and correspondence, as well as photographs, clippings, pamphlets, and booklets.

Rounding out this series is the society’s and foundation’s financial material, which are in Boxes 23 and 24, and include eight volumes. The boxes contain post-1950 checking account statements, check stubs, bills, receipts, invoices, and treasurer’s reports. As for the volumes, there are five ledgers of members and dues owed or paid that date from 1896 to 1958. There are also three cash accounts books covering the years from 1903 to 1946.

Related material in other series:

- Member files: Series 1, Boxes 5-10.

Series 3. Correspondence, 1948-1995 (Boxes 25-35)

This series contains the foundation's and society's mixed correspondence files. The folders in Boxes 25 to 33 each contain, in general, compilations of incoming correspondence over the years from 1948 to 1991. The letters cover a variety of subjects, from research and membership inquiries to purchases requests and the Society's annual dinners.

The correspondence in Boxes 34 and 35 overlap in dates with the correspondence in the previous boxes, but the contents differ somewhat. In these boxes are folders of incoming letters combined with copies of outgoing replies. These files date solely from 1973 to 1976, and most of the replies are from board members, the president, secretary, or treasurer. In addition, in Box 35 are folders of incoming and outgoing correspondence from the society's former secretary, John C. Tuten Jr., and former president, John W. McPherson.

Related material in other series:

- Membership correspondence: Series 1, Boxes 10-11.
- Annual meeting correspondence: Series 2, Box 14.
- Miscellaneous correspondence: Series 2, Volume 11.

Series 4. Miscellaneous, 1934-2001 (Boxes 36-37)

Researchers will find in this series an assortment of interesting items. In Box 36, there are pamphlets and booklets on Irish, Scotch-Irish, and Ulster history. Of note, filed under Ulster research and resources, is a set of photocopies from editions of the Ulster-Irish Society Yearbook from the 1930s and 1940s. They present information on the Ulster-Irish Society's beginnings as well as stories on famous individuals of Scotch-Irish or Ulster descent, including General Sam Houston and U.S. President Chester Alan Arthur.

Other notable material in this series includes a folder of clippings on Woodrow Wilson's ancestral home in Ireland, several clippings from 1968 issues of different Irish and British newspapers, and a "Declaration of Peace," formed by the Scotch-Irish Foundation and sent to the White House on July 4th, 1977. There are also two audio-visual items: a reel-to-reel tape of a 1976 University of Delaware lecture given by Scotch-Irish Society member Jesse McNabb; and a family archive CD by Genealogy.com of immigration records of Scotch-Irish settlers in America from the 1500s to the 1800s.

This series also contains two photographs of a 1908 Founders Week parade that are copyrighted by the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission.

Related material in other series:

- The disbound scrapbook in Series 2, Boxes 20-21 contains some printed material, clippings, and photographs.
